By Edmond Goldman
A C.U.P. Feature

Ah, Me!

We see by the papers that the lovely Madeleine Carroll came to McGill and gave a lecture to the students of English 4. Sweet and beautiful are the fruits of publicity for Miss Carroll's latest picture. We could even get up with a smile for an eight o'clock lecture, those bane of our existence, for a lecture from her. But think of the horrible shock when you go to the next lecture and leave Paradise for this workaday world.

Sophomores.

The sophomore engineers at Queen's had a novel idea for their dance. They had a "lead the band" contest, in which all the would-be maestros at the dance had a chance to assert their subconscious self and lead the band in any way and style they liked. Three guys and two girls took part, and the winner was chosen by popular vote. One fellow did not give the down beat at the beginning, and thus the band did not begin, leaving him fuming. After this they waited for the band to begin before their self-expression began. Another maestro led the band up to a thunderous climax and stopped, only to find the band playing on. The winner was a male Ina Ray Hutton who strutted, stomped and Mac Wested his hips for all he was worth.

Western Boogie-Woogie.

They had a Boogie Ball for Halloween out at the University of Saskatchewan. The wild and woolly westerners were said that this festive age had taken away their annual Halloween mud fight, but they tried to make up for it in a tug of war between faculty teams. Then each college ran a booth in which you could spend your nickels in as innocent a fashion as getting a hot dog or in the dissipated, delirious crown and anchor game. With a good orchestra and a large floor, fun and games were had by all.

Military training is in full swing at all universities across Canada, and as every ordeal has its humorous side, we thought we'd offer these little gems. They may help you to bear up, who knows? At Queen's we do our evening drill in the gymnasium, which, large as it is, gets rather crowded. There is the stamping of feet, the clatter of rifle movements, and the barking of commands in various peculiar tones and accents. Two units were marching steadily toward each other. The men in each front rank looked worried. Nearer, ever nearer, they approached. Suddenly the command rang out: "Attention!" One other classic command is that of the young officer, anxious for the welfare of his men, who ordered "Eyes right!" as his platoon was passing the women's residence.

As time goes on, however, this little problem of imminent collision seems to worry us less and less. Standing in the balcony of the gym, your observer noted squads marching through each other with the greatest of ease. Your reporter was inevitably reminded of the Musical Ride of the Royal Canadian

ALL BELIEVERS TO STRENGTHEN DEMOCRACY NOW

Reverend George Addresses Canadian Club

PRAISES MR. GODBOUT

Must Present Mailed Fist of United Canada to Enemies

In an address before the Canadian Club yesterday afternoon, the Rev. A. R. George, Lecturer in Oral English at McGill University, voiced the opinion that all believers in democracy should not take a passive role in the present situation, but should enthusiastically do everything in their power to strengthen democracy.

He declared that social enterprise should not stop because we are at war, but rather, that it should be more effective so that we may the better wage war against the enemy.

"One of the disadvantages of democracy is that its creed is halcyon and unconsidered," he said. "It has been taken for granted and to attack is both sacrilegious and absurd. Today it is being attacked and it is our duty to see to it that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth." He stated that it is not enough for us to be political protestants. We must become political creators.

Creed Is Basis.

Rev. George pointed out that behind the machine was the man, but behind the man was the creed, and the nobler the creed, and the better a man understands its implications, the more resolutely would he fight for it. "Government by the people involves a sense of personal responsibility. We cannot blame the Government if we ourselves are indifferent, and we cannot escape the responsibility for any failure in our social system."

"If we are foolish, we are at the mercy of demagogues. If we are lazy we fall into the hands of dictators, the end of which is tyranny. Criticism of our representatives must be well-informed and sympathetic, but it should be insistent, especially in these times of crisis. It should not be a sudden frenzy to be controlled in the straitjacket of a Royal Commission."

Must Ask Questions.

Furthermore he added, "I am sure that the hands of the Government are very full, but if the British Government can expose itself to bombs from above and questions from below in these times, it is not too much to ask our leaders to be at the mercy of the latter as much as is physically possible." He said also that we must consider how best we can organize our social enterprise for the common good. That is our responsibility as much as it is that of the premiers of Canada.

In conclusion the speaker asserted that government for the people meant unselfish and generous citizenship, not east against west, not federal against provincial government, but all for Canada. "What is holding up a wise re-arrangement of Canadian affairs?" he asked and continued: "It is the closed hand of vested interests, and it looks very much like a fist. There should be only one fist today and that is the mailed fist of a Canada united

SOCIOLOGS MEET IN R.V.C. COMMON ROOM

The Sociological Society will hold a meeting tonight at 8.15 p.m. in the Common Room of R.V.C. with Professor Laviolette as its guest speaker. His topic will be "The Role of a Sociologist in Modern Times." Professor Laviolette was previously connected with the State College at Seattle, Washington.

All those who are interested have the cordial invitation of the executive to attend this meeting. After the address the meeting will continue as a social evening.

ARTS DEBATING SEASON BEGINS

Advertising Is Topic of First Freshman Debate

Bross, MacIntosh, Noble vs. Hugesson, Applebaum, Villiers

Six Freshmen will vie for debating honors next Tuesday, November 12, at 3.00 p.m., when the first debate of the season in the faculty of Arts and Science gets under way in Room 12 of the Arts Building.

The contest will feature the following topic: "Resolved that modern advertising is conducive to intelligent buying." Stewart Bross, H.A. 3304, R. M. MacIntosh, M.A. 2055, and Bill Noble, W.E. 1531, will uphold the affirmative of the resolution, while E. K. Hugesson, P.L. 3314, B. Applebaum, F.I. 9762, and J. Villiers, will defend the negative side.

Speakers will be allowed 9 minutes in which to speak, except the first speaker of the affirmative, who will have an additional 6 minutes to open the debate and 3 minutes extra for rebuttal.

All contestants are advised by the executive of the society to communicate at once with their partners.

HOLD BOVEY SHIELD DEBATES THURSDAY

Those Interested Are Asked to Sign Lists on Notice Board

The annual Bovey Shield competition will be held this Thursday afternoon, at 4 p.m., in the Union Music Room. Individual awards will be made for the first time since the inauguration of the contest. Those who are interested should place their names on the list which, at present, is posted on the notice board in the Art's Building.

All debaters will discuss the same topic, but may choose either the affirmative or the negative side. Competitors will be asked to speak for five minutes only. The topic to be discussed, will be published in the "Daily," on the morning of the competition.

The judges of the contest will be Prof. John Humphrey of the Faculty of Law; Mr. A. R. George, lecturer in Oral English, and the Rev. Thomas Lamont, B.A., a former prominent debater with the University. It is expected that Colonel Bovey, who donated the shield, will also be present.

University Announces Adult Education Plan

It was announced by McGill University, yesterday, that, under a special grant from the Carnegie Foundation, 750 students were enrolled in courses of study to be carried out under the rural adult education program of the University.

Last Sunday evening, Dr. F. Cyril James, accompanied by Dr. W. H. Brittain, vice-principal of MacDonald College, visited Lennoxville, Que., to tell of the contribution and reconstruction that adult education can make to Canada.

Dr. Brittain is in charge of the program of adult education in the Eastern Townships.

TO TAKE FIRST ANNUAL PHOTOS THIS AFTERNOON

Pictures This Year Taken by Notman and Son

PUNCTUALITY STRESSED

As Usual Poetry Will Be Included in Biographies

"Military training will not interfere with the photographing of graduating students," it was stated last night. "Although printers' deadlines necessitate a rigidly enforced schedule of sittings, classes are being split into groups to sit individually on alternate days in order to avoid conflict."

Since intricate planning goes into the making of these lists so that a maximum number of students will have their pictures taken each day, the Annual board stresses the need for strict observance of dates posted in the lists on page 4 of the "Daily" each day. The regular time of sittings is between 4.30 and 6.00 when no appointment is necessary. If a student, however, finds his name listed for a day on which he cannot attend at the studios between these hours, he may phone the photographers for a special appointment that day, it was announced.

The photographers for this year's Annual are Wm. Notman & Son located at 1330 Sherbrooke West. In case of the need for special appointments, the phone number is PL. 9447.

Biography Forms.

It is expected that biography forms will be distributed to graduating students towards the end of the week. These will be handed to seniors by the faculty representatives, who will collect them as soon as the biographies have been written by the student.

As in other years, each biography is to be headed by some poetic quotation and on this subject, the Annual board wishes to clear up a hitherto uncertain point. The quotations can be original, in fact, they said, something new is urgently needed, but "downright, driven" should be avoided since it may clash with the real poetry, usually hackneyed by this time, which will inevitably be handed in by some biographers.

Also, they said, if a graduating student wishes to have a complimentary biography, he can have one with a clearer conscience if he has it written by a friend. They cautioned, however, that he make sure that the person writing the biography is a friend.

CABINET MINISTERS WILL BROADCAST

Canadian Legion Sponsors Radio Campaign for Poppy Fund

Ottawa, Nov. 4.—The Canadian Legion will sponsor three broadcasts to be heard over the national network of the C.B.C. within the next few weeks.

On Friday, November 8, 8.15 to 8.30 p.m. E.D.S.T., a special program has been arranged in support of the Legion's Poppy Campaign. Speakers on this broadcast will include the Hon. Jan Mackenzie, Minister of Pensions and National Health, and the Hon. C. G. Power, Minister of National Defence for Air. Major Power will speak in both English and French.

On November 11, 8.00 to 8.55 p.m. E.D.S.T., the Legion will present its annual Remembrance Day broadcast, featuring the Mendelssohn Choir of Toronto.

Immediately following the Remembrance Day broadcast, from 9.00 to 9.30 p.m. E.D.S.T., a special program, arranged by officers of the Canadian Legion War Services, will be heard from the troops in England.

COMMERCE DEBATERS WILL MEET TODAY

There will be a short meeting at 1 p.m. today in room 15 of the Arts Building of those Commerce students who are interested in debating. The purpose of the meeting is to elect officers for the coming debating season. The attention of all Commerce students is drawn to the fact that prospective debaters should sign up on the list posted on the Commerce Notice board, a spokesman of the Faculty stated. No previous experience in debating is expected and all the Freshmen class particularly will be welcome to participate.

BOARD SCARCE FOR QUEENSMEN

Students Have Difficulty Finding Rooms in Wartime

Present Conditions Show Need for Men's Residence

Kingston, (Ontario, November 4.—(C.U.P.)—Queen's University students are faced with a peculiar yet serious problem as a result of the war. Kingston has always been a military centre, with R.M.C. and troops of the permanent force quartered there, but in wartime this concentration has been intensified many times.

There is a large development of the Empire Air Training Scheme, there are thousands of soldiers in training, and there is a naval school for seamen and for naval officers. This does not by any means limit the effect of the war on Kingston, for the Aluminum Company last year built a plant to form aeroplane parts, the Locomotive works is building locomotives, and the shipyards are building naval corvettes.

Workers for these industries and relatives of the soldiers have come into town in great numbers. And this is how it affects Queen's. Queen's has no men's residences. All the men and some of the girls live in boarding houses. The university has always issued a list of boarding houses near the university, listing their rates and accommodations.

Student Taxi Service.

Some students came up in advance of registration, to make sure of getting a room. A free student taxi service was organized to take the student from place to place mentioned on the list; up this street and down the next. The boarding house list was soon exhausted. Before the end of registration some students had to spend the night in a hotel.

Rents have gone up to a slight degree. Where the standard rate for a single room was $3.00 and the rent per person for a double room was $2.50, any room, single or double is at $3.00 per person. The situation has now reached equilibrium. Some homes that never took in a roomer before, will take in one or two students. A student who is dissatisfied with his room has a good chance of finding another to move into.

No Trouble for Co-eds.

The girls do not have the problem that faces the men, as there are Women's Residences to hold the greater part of the co-eds, and the Dean of Women arranges to have boarding houses reserved for the remainder.

As regards meals, the students do not have the same problem, for there is the Students' Union Cafeteria, which has kept its prices at the same level, and in spite of rising prices has kept the quality of (Continued on Page Four)

ALUMNAE SOCIETY TO ENTERTAIN CLASS '41

Tomorrow at 4 o'clock in the R.V.C. Drawing Room, Miss Elizabeth Monk, B.C.L. will speak on "A Fabulous History," when the Alumnae Society entertains the Graduating Class.

Six Company Commanders Selected from Faculties

New Officers All Served with Canadian or Imperial Military Forces During War of 1914-1918

In a special statement issued yesterday and signed by both the Principal Dr. F. Cyril James and also by Lt. Col. J. M. Morris, M.C., V.D., Officer Commanding the McGill Contingent of the C.O.T.C., it was stated that six members of the Faculty of the University have been named company commanders to the Reserve Training Battalion. These appointments are dated to take effect from November 1st, 1940 and are: A. Company—C. H. Caruthers, professor in the classics department; B. Company—A. J. Kelly, professor of surveying; C. Company—C. L. Huskins, chairman of the department of genetics; D. Company—J. U. MacEwan, professor of metallurgy; E. Company—C. M. McKergow, head of the department of mechanical engineering; F. Company—C. S. LeMesurier, Dean of the Faculty of Law. In addition to this, Dr. A. S. Lamb has been appointed the Battalion medical officer and Hay Finlay the Battalion physical instructor.

Commanders Experienced.

All the newly appointed company commanders have had previous military experience and have served with the Imperial or Canadian Forces in the last war. Prof. Caruthers was with the 205th Siege Battery of the Royal Garrison Artillery, and served in Palestine; Prof. Kelly was with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry; Prof. Huskins was with the infantry at the outbreak of war, and after transferring to the air force, he served with both the Royal Flying Corps and the Royal Air Force. Later on he commanded a C.O.T.C. detachment at the University of Alberta, and now is a captain in the Active Reserve of the Canadian Militia. Prof. MacEwan was with the 7th Canadian Field Artillery and Prof. McKergow was instructor to various training units supplying reinforcements to the Princess Pals. Prof. LeMesurier served with the 14th Battalion and was later transferred to the Canadian Army Gymnastic Staff where he was an active captain when the war ended.

RTB MARCH IN UBC GRADUATES FIRST PARADE MEET AT DANCE

General Panet Expected to Take Salute

Service Will Be of Strictly Military Nature

This coming Sunday at 1.45 p.m. the combined C.O.T.C. Contingent and the Reserve Training Battalion will hold their first Route March and Church Parade. The Route March will last forty minutes and will be followed by the Church Parade to St. James United Church. The C.O.T.C. Cadets will be in full battle dress uniform with greatcoats, and to ensure some uniformity of dress, the Reserve Training Battalion are asked to wear hats and overcoats.

The march past of the complete unit of 2,300 men, and the salute will be taken, it is expected, by Brig. Gen. E. DeB. Panet, O.C.M.D. 4. He was formerly Chief of the Department of Investigation of the C.P.R. and has been appointed recently to the post of Officer in Command of Military District No. 4 which includes Montreal and its vicinity.

Exemptions.

All physically fit students of British citizenship not otherwise exempted make up the McGill Reserve Training Battalion. The battalion is divided into six companies of men from the various faculties so that the training schedule may not coincide with that of their studies. It is about 1,600 strong.

Any student who wishes to be excused from this parade must hand in an application for exemption at the Orderly Room before noon tomorrow.

PSYCHOLOGISTS MEET TO ELECT PRESIDENT

At three p.m. this Thursday the Psychological Society will hold a meeting in room 74 of the Arts Building to discuss the organization plans for the coming year.

The elections will then be held to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the last president. All students who are interested are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

DAILY EDITORS

There will be a meeting of the Associate News Editors tomorrow at 5 o'clock in the Daily Office. All editors must bring a complete list of the reporters on their night, and all must attend.

NOAD TALKS TO HISTORY GROUP ON HUMANISM

Professor Traces Growth of Humanistic Movement

DECLINES WITH ROME

Cleavage Continually Frustrated Ideals of Scholars

The first regular meeting of the Men's Historical Club was held last night at the home of Eric Hutchison, 4294 Montrose avenue. The president welcomed the new members, and then outlined the plans for the coming year, which, he hoped, would include a joint banquet with R.V.C. Historical Society at the end of the session. The speaker of the evening was Prof. A. F. Noad who had chosen as his subject, "The Humanism of the Renaissance."

Prof. Noad first traced the growth of humanism, choosing as a convenient starting point the death of Boccaccio in 1375 and that of Petrarch in the year before. He followed the movement to its height around the middle of the 15th century, and its decline thereafter down to the sack of Rome in 1527. Throughout the whole period Rome was necessarily the focus of all this intellectual activity, being as it was, the intellectual, religious, and political centre of the civilized world.

Ideals Frustrated. During the whole movement there was, however, a fundamental cleavage in humanism itself, which was bound to frustrate the ideals set before themselves by humanist scholars. Numerous attempts were made to reconcile the opposing factors, the Christian and the Pagan, but none was lasting. This failure at reconciliation was clearly manifested in the "Prince of Machiavelli" in which he deserted for the political point of view.

MR. HOWARD RHYS ADDRESSES CLUB

Philosophical Society to Hear Theory of Nicolas Berdyaev

Tomorrow night at 8.15 in the Strathcona Hall conference room, Mr. Howard Rhys will address the Philosophical Society on "The Ethics of Creativeness" based on the theory of the Russian author, Nicolas Berdyaev.

"Mr. Rhys is a graduate student of philosophy and, as such, is well qualified to give an exposition of Berdyaev's point of view," stated a member of the executive. "This topic is of special interest to the student of today because it is a modern doctrine taking recent physiological discoveries into account." At the conclusion of the lecture, the floor will be open for general discussion.

All students who are interested in philosophy have been cordially invited to attend the meeting. To cover the cost of refreshments there will be a cover charge of ten cents.

AIRMEN TO FACE NAVY TOMORROW

BOTH TEAMS READY

Close Game Anticipated Between Two Teams

SCHEDULE CHANGED

More Convenient Dates Arranged for Benefit of Teams

Tomorrow afternoon at Molson Stadium the Air Force and Navy will clash for the second time this season. In the first game, after a very tight struggle, the Air Force boys came out on the long end of a 5 to 0 score. Navy are determined to show that it was just one of those things. Air Force are prepared to go out and show that it wasn't. With this in mind and along with the fact that both teams are in perfect shape for the forthcoming struggle, one of the best games of the season is looked forward to.

The Army, up to now, has been the weak sister of the three teams, having lost both her games to date, but against the Air Force last Wednesday afternoon the Army boys showed that they are far from being out of the race yet when they had them on their toes throughout the whole game, with a few breaks falling their way a different ending might have been written.

POSTPONE ARMY-NAVY GAME

Army was scheduled to play Navy on Friday last but owing to the fact that six of their best players were out with injuries, this game was postponed and will be played at the end of the regular schedule.

NEW SCHEDULE RELEASED

Last night the schedule was rearranged for the benefit of the three teams, and it now reads as follows:

Wed., Nov. 6—Navy at Air Force.
Fri., Nov. 8—Army at Navy.
Wed., Nov. 13—Army at Air Force.
Fri., Nov. 15—Air Force at Navy.
Mon., Nov. 18—Air Force at Army.
Wed., Nov. 20—Navy at Army.

Today, a very thorough practice was held in which all teams took part. Old plays were smoothed out and several were brought in much to the delight of the players. The reason for this is that several players were sceptical about the league being successful this year owing to the fact that all three teams were taught the same plays and consequently it would not be very difficult for opposing teams to distinguish one play from another; with the result that most games would take on the form of two bucks and a kick and the team that got the breaks would probably win. But now, with each team adding new plays to its system which feature various end runs and pass formations, it appears that the team that masters these plays will end out on top.

BADMINTON STARS TO HOLD MIXED TOURNAMENT

A large turnout of badminton players is expected at tonight's practice in preparation for the forthcoming mixed tournament to be held on Tuesday, Nov. 12. This tournament will be the first mixed tournament held at McGill this year and a large turnout is hoped for.

The practices are continuing as usual on the times scheduled and the facilities of the new gymnasium are open to all who care to play. Coeds in particular are urged to attend the practices and enter in the mixed tournament a week from today. All members of the fairer sex are assured that there will be sufficient engineers present and perhaps a few lawyers!

There is a new board at which to register at the entrance to the gym and everybody who signs may be assured of their share of games. The Executive is busy working on a schedule for the winter season and as soon as possible an intercompany league will be started and other regular round tournaments are being planned.

guff and stuff

Wrestling at McGill got under way yesterday afternoon with a practice in the gym. What a chance for a sermon on the physical benefits of this admirable diversion, and to give a cordial welcome to the newcomers. Well I won't take it. Instead, a dissertation on the doings of big time grunt and groan men.

Even Uncle Troy couldn't tell you why the army of McGill sports columnists have given professional mat matters the go-by. These myopic muddlers, meandering (how sweet it is to begin by calumniating one's predecessors!) ... but let us to business.

The game played by the men in the money resembles the McGill type of play only in the amount of sweat expended. Use of pepper, kicks, eye-gouging, and hair-pulling are strictly verboten. Coach Frank Saxon was an Olympic wrestler but he forebore to learn the tricks of the pro ring. At least he does not teach them to his proteges.

Yvon Robert, always "the idol of the ladies," by the use of these magic powers layed out an offending referee seven times in one bout without hitting him. Then he continued with his rival grappler, three policemen and an uncounted number of the audience. How did he do it?

And then the red headed Leo Numa. What marvels can I tell of him. One match not long ago the carrot-topped "idol of the ladies" had been slung out of the ring by that bold badman Crusher Steve Casey. After his bravura piece of two complete somersaults, he had landed with his foot in a ringsider's lap, and lay writing energetically on the floor.

The Crusher kicked Leo in the face a few times for good measure and then climbed back into the ring where he was acclaimed winner. Numa declining to leave the floor.

This is only the setting for the miracle. With exuberating groans Leo was removed to his dressing room. Impelled by curiosity I followed. A man whom I took for a doctor by his look of learning said "A leg injury, I am afraid!" as he bent over Leo who was stretched on a bench.

The manager (with broken nose and regulation cauliflower ears) raised his hand and face to the heavens. Clenching his fist, he ground out, "On fiddle-de-dey, I really think that fellow Casey is a cad!"

Leo the sufferer, in his turn, recriminated. "But when I get well in three weeks, I'll get a return engagement and knock his ears down," he said. The doctor had said he would not be able to stand for that time.

They peeled off his trunks and helped the injured warrior to the shower, still groaning horribly. I went out, my heart filled with sadness.

But I remembered I had not asked which hospital to send flowers to. I opened the door slowly to avoid startling the wounded man. ... But what a sight met my eyes through the widening slit. Leo, still in his birthday clothes was walking and leaping around the room like the man St. Paul healed at the beautiful gate of the temple. A minute later the door was kicked shut in my face. Somehow I knew it was Leo's injured leg that did it. Later I remembered the doctor looked strangely like the head ticket collector.

In the hall outside the people were beginning to leave. The announcer had just announced that Numa had sustained a severe leg injury and was unable to return for the third fall. I saw by the papers that he wrestled and beat his man in Toronto the next night.

Miracles of this type are daily occurrences in the wrestling ring. If there is a cynic or an atheist among you, let him but go and see a bout and he will be convinced of his folly and repent.

Some of the local rowing men are clamoring for a man to look after their machines in the loft above the C.O.T.C. orderly room. The machines are said to be tricky things which could be broken in next to no time by a lubberly novice, so the club asks for an attendant to take care of them. All this is a bit premature because the machines have to wait their turn (Continued on Page Four)

RACERS ENTER HARRIER MEET

Newcomers Expected to Make Fine Showing

New Men Compete With Former College Stars Saturday

This afternoon at 5 p.m. at the gymnasium a host of red and white scantily dressed runners will indicate that the McGill's hard driving harrier men are going through their last heavy workout before the combined Inter-Company and Dunlop road race next Saturday.

For some time now the various members of this squad have been patiently putting the miles behind them in an effort to achieve superior conditioning which is essential to all those who hope to have a chance of placing in the first several places. This has been a fairly regular affair with the runners doing short speedy workouts of perhaps three miles one night and varying it the next night with a longer slower trot of sometimes six or seven miles duration.

RACERS IN CONDITION

The purpose of this is of course to condition the men so that they can stand a fast pace for part of the race should it be necessary and also to give them enough endurance for the long steady grind of five miles.

NEWCOMERS PROMISING

Several of the new men have shown promising results after the sustained training of the past few days and can be looked upon to give a fair showing in the race, particularly Dave Gibb, Bill Long, and Bonar Lindsay who was a star with Westmont High last year. Quite a few men are going to compete without having had any previous experience and they will be an unpredictable factor in the final scoring since more than one new man has surprised all by running an amazing race over a new course in previous events of this nature.

Officials have announced that for each man completing the distance of five miles on Saturday his company will be awarded 2 points. This is intended to attract a considerable number of greenhorns who are out for conditioning more than anything else.

R.V.C. Sports

BASKETBALL

Tomorrow afternoon in Montreal High School the coed cagers will hold their first practice of the season from 5-6 p.m. All those interested in Basketball are asked to turn out at 5 p.m. sharp.

SQUASH

This afternoon from 2:15-5:15 in the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium, Mr. Ted Greene will hold a Squash lesson for the benefit of those coeds who have not already learned the finer points of the game. Rackets will be provided and all who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

HOCKEY

All those who are interested in playing hockey are urged to sign the new list that has been posted in R.V.C. This list will provide for changes in the time tables of many of the coeds who had signed up previously and find it impossible to practise in these hours due to the new training scheme.

ARCHERY

This afternoon the Coed archers will meet for the second round of their Annual Outdoor Tournament, from 4:30 p.m. on the Upper Stadium behind Douglas Hall. Thursday afternoon will see the last round being played from 3:30-5:30. The award is half interest in a beautiful silver arrow.

DANCE CLUB

All coeds who wish to join the modern Dance Club are asked to sign the list posted in R.V.C. Freshettes with some dancing experience are especially welcome.

Wrestlers Commence Training For Season in New Gymnasium

In a far off room in the new gymnasium yesterday afternoon the wrestlers opened their practice for the season with a turnout of fifteen men. As in all other sports this year with the suspension of Intercollegiate sports the wrestlers have planned an extensive season open to every man on the campus, with or without previous experience.

Yesterday's turnout saw eight men answer the call and with the aid of several men from last year's college team, who will act as instructors, these prospective wrestlers were shown some of the fundamentals of this manly art.

As in other sports this year the main purpose of the wrestling classes is to provide the students with some relaxation coupled with body-building exercise, and everyone who wishes to keep in trim should turn out to these classes which are to be held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 6-7 p.m.

Among the members of last year's team, who turned out to aid in giving instruction to the newcomers were M. Cochrane, who has had three years' experience wrestling for Harvard; Charters, captain of last year's college squad; Cronk, the present manager of the wrestling squad, and Joe Sabbath and Art Looker, both members of last year's college team.

Among the newcomers who came out yesterday for their initial practice were Z. Miller, R. Smart, K. Logan, Red Gurdian, D. Kerr, E. Kerr, and L.

Elfrith. These men all went through a light workout under the able guidance of Em. Orlick and experienced members of former college teams.

Charlie Harris, who will also act as an instructor for the beginners, has had previous wrestling experience at Yale and although now out on account of a leg injury, he will be around to help in any way he can. Frank Saxon, who will act as honorary coach, besides being connected with several previous McGill college squads, has been coach for British Empire wrestling teams and is himself a former Olympic star.

With this wealth of experienced talent on hand to give any help which may be needed a strong turnout of students should be seen to learn this manly art and while doing so gain recreation and help to keep fit during the winter months.

A small intercompany assault-at-arms meet is planned to be held before Christmas with the winter B.W. & F. sports culminating in a large meet in the spring which will be run on the intercompany basis and will take the place of former Intercollegiate B.W. & F. meets.

With the extensive equipment and space offered by the new gymnasium this year the wrestlers are planning to enjoy a banner season and everyone who wishes to keep trim through participation in this sport should turn out soon to take advantage of early instruction. For any further particulars students should get in touch with B. K. Cronk at MA. 2055.

SPORTS REPRESENTATIVES

Platoons 1, 3, 4, 5, 7, 10, 14, 19, 21, 25, 26, 27, 29 and 30 so far have returned their questionnaires. ## SWIMMING CAMPAIGN

We want to start on the beginners first and Mark Veary, the popular instructor of the Knights of Columbus, has been engaged to take the first group of twenty-five who have signed up. Plans are also in the offing for an Intercompany Water Polo league to start soon so Representatives are asked to list all in their platoons who wish to "make" the Company teams.

HOCKEY

At The Students' Athletics Council Meeting today final plans will be made for the Intercompany league and Coaches appointed to line up the Company teams which will be selected from those who turn out to the initial practices. ## VOLLEY-BALL

Platoon Sports Representatives are now busy organizing Volleyball Teams to enter into the Inter-Platoon Volley-ball League. If you can play volley-ball and have not yet been selected for your Platoon team then see your representative at once. Platoon Officers are urged to do their part to see that their Platoon is adequately represented when the volley-ball league gets under way. Team line-ups should be handed in to the Athletic Office as soon as possible.

FENCING EXHIBITION

All persons interested in Fencing are invited to witness a unique Fencing Demonstration tonight at 8:00 p.m. in the B.W. & F. Room. The principals in this display are none other than Canada's two most outstanding fencers, namely Charles Otis who represented Canada in the 1936 Olympics and George Tulley three times holder of the Dominion Title in all three weapons.

Tonight's affair will officially open the McGill Fencing season and will see the start of the open-house instruction periods. Mr. Tulley and Mr. Otis will follow up their demonstration by a regular class session which is open to anyone who wishes to attend.

All those who have signed up for the Fencing School should very definitely be on hand and should come prepared for action. For the present, only gym suits are needed as a certain amount of fencing equipment will be on hand for those who do not possess any.

Classes are to be held every Tuesday from 8:00 to 9:00 p.m. and every Friday from 6:00 to 7:00 p.m. George Tulley, the Fencing Instructor, will be on hand each of these periods.

Students who are at all interested in fencing are invited to turn out. Mr. Tulley is starting right from scratch and will follow a progressive course of instruction so that previous knowledge or skill is of no importance whatsoever. The Fencing Course is very definitely a Beginners Course. The aim behind the School is to teach a new skill to those who have the desire to learn something about the sport but for lack of facilities or instruction have never had the opportunity of doing so.

Mr. Tulley beside being an expert Fencer himself is an outstanding teacher. Those who come to him will find that he is a skilful impartor of his knowledge. Naturally this will tend to rapid progress with which will come the keen enjoyment of mastering a new skill. Hence all would-be fencers are asked to commence with the first lesson and attend the classes regularly.

BASKETBALL LEAGUE TO COMMENCE SOON

Arrangements have been completed to start the Interplatoon Basketball League next week. All games will be played between 5-7 p.m. The platoon teams are to be grouped from different companies and the winning team in each section will play for the platoon championship of the McGill Reserve Training Battalion.

It is essential that each platoon appoint a basketball manager, whose duty it will be to keep a record of all men who wish to play and to see that at least eight players are available for each game. It is expected that each team will have about one game each week throughout the winter.

Macdonald College will enter two teams and it is expected that the Independents will enter five teams, one from each of the two final years of Medicine and one each from the Independents in the first two years of Medicine and a fifth team to be made up from other Independents in all other faculties.

This Interplatoon basketball schedule is in keeping with the new form of Intercompany sports at McGill and offers an opportunity for many more men to play basketball at McGill than in former years when there were, at most, only three college teams.

Points are credited for each team entered and also for each game played and these accumulated points will be added to the Company totals at the end of the season. There is an excellent opportunity for all men to practice at any of the free hours in the gym and it is expected that many will take advantage of this chance to play basketball through the coming winter.

Dragons, but he missed the horses.

The King's English.

A writer in the Toronto Varsity comments on the sad state of the English language when it falls into the rough hands of the Army. He asks what one is to make of such rubbish as "Slope Hips" and "Order Tuh!" And he concludes by saying could anyone be blamed for not understanding "S.T.U.M.M.A.C.H.E.E." So far the worst your reporter has encountered is "Stand at Hise" and the old familiar "Heft, hipe, heft, hipe." But it's getting serious, and something will have to be done about it.

People will do all kinds of labor for the fun of it on Halloween. At McGill some students dug the pillars of the Roddick Gate out of their concrete foundations and placed them at another entrance to the University. No one saw this weird work being carried out by the light of the moon, and as the clock on the gate was stopped at midnight, there is a strong suspicion that supernatural forces were at work.

Co-eds all across Canada are taking St. John Ambulance training, so possibly some experiences at McGill will have some point. It seems that the "patient" has to be exactly that, for they are pushed and pulled mercilessly, and have to remind their bandagers that sympathy is one of the rules of the game. Judging from some of the struggles, it must be one of the hardest to learn.

From coast to coast Sadie Hawkins is making visits to Canadian campuses, an invasion that no C.O.T.C. contingent will hinder. Male hopes run high, and even if Elysium lasts only a day, it's a beautiful memory.

Knee Socks Again.

There seems to be spreading across this fair land a blot that is known as "knee socks." This plague manifests itself on the legs of co-eds. It was rumored in the McGill Daily that they were cooked up by "Mademoiselle" and Harper's bizarre "Bazaar." Be that as it may, the Toronto Varsity made its own "Gallup" poll of male opinion on the campus. "Childish, sloppy and uncomplimentary" said most of the men queried. In this they follow the example of the men out at U. of E.C. Some of the comments made were "They look like little Red Riding Hoods running around the campus" and "They'll be wearing pigtails next." One man believed that they were a form of feminine initiation. Little did he know of feminine psychology.

Well, to mix metaphors, now that we've sown the whirlwind, we await the deluge.

BONN ANALYSES FRENCH STAND

Part Played by 'Undercurrents' in the French Defeat Discussed

Visiting Professor Addresses People's Forum in Absence of Scheduled Speaker

Owing to the fact that Miss Freda Utey, who was scheduled to address the People's Forum last evening, was unable to do so, Professor M. J. Bonn, visiting lecturer in economics at McGill, addressed the meeting on the topic "Undercurrents in France." Miss Utey is expected to address the Forum early in the new year.

Professor Bonn said that it is very difficult to understand the attitude of the Vichy Government but that he would attempt to present several of the undercurrents which were present in France. "First one must attempt to understand the temperament of the French people as they are so different from other peoples. Well-known French writers have presented the French people as being led by their feelings rather than by their principles. They are a people whose main instincts are so unchangeable and yet, in an emergency, so changeable. They are a most routine people but, when pulled out of their comfortable niche, they will dare anything and anything."

In the past France always was a very strong power and was continually involved in wars, usually against Germany and the other powers who supported her. When the Empire failed to be successful in her wars, it was replaced by a Republic. It is only natural that if the Republic fails it is to be replaced by a dictatorship.

An eminent French militarist once said, "Other people make war because of political and economic objects, Frenchmen make war because they want to have war." This policy, no longer holds for the French people and they were looking around for some means of keeping the status quo and of preventing war at all costs.

After the World War, France wanted to split Germany up so as to be sure that there would be no future wars but Great Britain and the United States objected to this and promised France a complete guarantee of her borders. They both failed in this. Professor Bonn said that "The eagle is not the true emblem of the United States. It is the ostrich."

France was faced with the problem of always having Germany as a neighbor and this was a constant threat that had to be prepared against. Buffer states would not be of much use because it was the geographical borders that were important. In organizing the League of Nations, which France considered as an insurance policy, she was attempting to keep the status quo of Europe. To back this up, she built the Maginot Line.

In considering the various allies that France might have chosen, we must realize that Britain was not very satisfactory for France's purpose. In the case of war, the battles would be fought on French soil and "what was the use of winning the war after a great invasion." Similarly Russia would not decrease the length of the boundary between France and Russia. At this time, one of those in favour of an alliance with Italy was Laval. With Italy on one side and Spain on the other side, both friendly, France would be in a much better position to face Germany. One curious thing about Italy's wars is that Italy was usually on the winning side but usually lost the major battles in which she fought. "Mussolini is hoping that in defeating Britain, Germany will so weaken herself that Italy will be able to play a major role in dictating the peace terms," stated Professor Bonn.

After the War, France became an industrialized country but the politicians and large magnates did not seem to realize that this necessitated special legislation. The Communists soon began to assume larger numbers, and the influential French magnates began to envy the system in Germany where no opposition was allowed. However it is not to be supposed, Professor Bonn pointed out, that the capitalists gave any help to Hitler with the aim of turning her against materials. Sign list in Front Office, Strathcona Hall, by Friday at the latest.

Russia. "Russia is militarily no danger to anybody. Her safety depends on British victory." There therefore were some people who were in favor of a reconciliation with Germany, even if France would not dominate this coalition. If decent terms were offered to the French, they might accept them but, Bonn declared, "The word 'generosity' does not exist in Hitler's dictionary." It is hoped that the French would not accept any terms whatsoever either because of ordinary common sense or because of their heroism.

November 11 Has Been Declared Statutory Holiday

Legion President Appeals to All Citizens to Participate in Ceremonies

Ottawa, November 4.—Canada's soldier dead will be honored by the nation on Remembrance Day, November 11, as a result of a decision by the Secretary of State to proclaim the day a statutory holiday as usual.

An appeal to all citizens to participate in the ceremonies that will be held throughout the country, is made by Alex Walker, of Calgary, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, who announces that provincial commands and branches of the Legion have been instructed to make plans suitable to local conditions.

In spite of modified arrangements, necessitated because of the war, it is expected that thousands of citizens everywhere, and ex-service men including local detachments of the Veterans' Guard of Canada, will take part in the ceremonies.

Air Force and Navy concentrated mostly on pass formations and it wouldn't be surprising if one saw a very wide open game between these two teams tomorrow, featuring the backfield, in contrast to the rather close affair in the first game, in which their lines were featured.

NAZI INTERRUPTS MOTION PICTURES

Halts Legion Showing of Silly Symphony

Soldiers Vacate Hall When Bomb Threatens to Blow It Up

Somewhere in England, November 5.—There is one Nazi airman who will get a hot reception if he is ever taken prisoner by members of this particular Canadian brigade. It's his mean disposition they don't like.

The men had braved the storm and blackout to enjoy a moving picture programme arranged by the Canadian Legion War Services. The recreation hall was at the extreme end of the camp compound and several hundred of the lads had sloshed through mud and water to reach it.

A few minutes after they had wrapped themselves into chairs to watch the antics of a "silly symphony" star, the Nazi dropped a bomb just outside the theatre door. Fortunately, it didn't explode but for reasons of safety the hall was quickly vacated and the men were told the show was postponed — at least until the bomb could be removed and rendered harmless.

Just typical of the downright cussedness of the Germans, is the way they described it.

GOVERNOR - GENERAL IS LEGION MEMBER

Ottawa, November 4. — A veteran of two wars who recorded on his application form that he is a married man and that his occupation is Governor-General of Canada, has become a regular member of the Ottawa branch of the Canadian Legion.

It was an ordinary form which the Earl of Athlone filled out, and each question was answered in His Excellency's own handwriting. It gave the information that he was born in London, England, that he has been a member of the Windsor branch of the British Legion since its inception in 1920, that he started his army career as a subaltern in the 7th Hussars and that he served in both the South African War and the first Great War.

The fact that His Excellency is already grand president of the Canadian Legion apparently was not sufficient for this distinguished soldier, who for many years has taken an active interest in the welfare of ex-service men. His membership in the Ottawa branch now brings him into closer contact with his old comrades-in-arms and gives him a more intimate interest in legion affairs.

LEGIONNAIRES BARE NAZI PROPAGANDISTS

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—"Lord Haw Haw" and "Sinister Sam." Briton's nicknames for two of Dr. Goebbels' notorious radio propagandists, will be the basis of the Sunday, November 3, broadcast of "The Legion Views the War" to be heard over the national network of the CBC from 7.30 to 8.00 p.m. E.D.S.T.

The speaker, who will represent the Canadian Legion which is presenting the new commentaries every fortnight, will explain the radio methods adopted by the Nazis in an attempt to undermine the morale of the British people and break the confidence of other countries in Britain's ability to win the war.

The broadcast will illustrate how the ridiculous allegations made by the Germans about "the rapid disintegration of the Empire" have acted as boomerang against their own propaganda machine to the extent that it has now become more of a joke than the subject of serious consideration.
